Tap the Collective Knowledge of Your People to Drive Innovation

To drive maximum productivity and adoption, your collaboration platform should provide the same features and functionality people have become accustomed to in their personal lives. But in business, it's critical to adhere to the highest levels of data security and regulatory compliance – making on-premises collaboration software ideal.

Companies such as Reed Smith, Word & Brown and Kiewit have made Neudesic Pulse the heart and soul of their enterprise collaboration network, not only because its easy-to-use interface and familiar social features drive adoption, but also because Pulse helps them tap the collective knowledge of their organizations to make more informed decisions and unleash innovation.

Neudesic Pulse offers advanced business profiles that help you identify expertise, skills and industry specific attributes while providing an opportunity to recognize and endorse colleagues. Pulse can also deploy on-premises so sensitive corporate data stays securely behind the firewall.

“Consumer collaboration and social trends will continue to have a profound impact on enterprise collaboration and social tools and services.”

- Gartner, Predicts 2014: Consumerization Impacts Enterprises' Social and Collaboration Strategies, November 13, 2013

Collaboration Software That Works the Way People Do

All the familiar features and benefits of social networking are now available for the enterprise. Neudesic Pulse makes it easy to share ideas, collaborate on projects, exchange files, give feedback, ask questions, get answers, and more – from anywhere, at any time, on any device.

Dynamic Knowledge Sharing

Pulse makes employee communication and collaboration easier than ever. Share ideas, projects, files, feedback, and receive instant answers - anywhere, anytime.

Public and Private Groups

Build more effective teams and partnerships by providing easy-to-use collaboration software. Invite partners, customers, and vendors with a click. Apply security settings and customize your group in seconds.

Multi Platform and Device Accessibility

Important business events occur at any time. Neudesic Pulse is 'always on' keeping your employees connected across devices and platforms with mobile apps for iPhone, Android, Windows Phone and Blackberry.

Secure and Flexible Implementation

Design an enterprise collaboration network that's both flexible and secure. Neudesic Pulse deploys on-premises, so you can tailor your solution to meet your unique business needs.

Network Integration

Create limitless value for your enterprise by leveraging JavaScript App extensibility to integrate your business systems or pull information from a portal.

Business Profiles

Define yourself, with customizable user profiles that list searchable information such as title, skills, experience, education, availability, location, certifications, bill rates and more.

Advanced People Search

Advanced search features help you identify people based on skills, education, experience, location and other user-defined profile information, so you can build stronger, more diverse teams to execute strategic initiatives.

Custom Badges

Recognize colleagues with a Pulse Badge – present them manually or automatically based on configurable criteria. Create custom awards to acknowledge fulfillment of business, corporate and employee initiatives.

Real World Enterprise Collaboration Delivered

What our customers are saying about the powerful features and benefits of Neudesic Pulse.

“We needed a solution that could bring our entire organization together to share ideas, ask questions and get answers, either from a centralized hub or within the business systems we use on a regular basis. Neudesic Pulse was the perfect choice.”

- Phil Scott, Senior Vice President, Enterprise Services

“We expect that Neudesic Pulse will allow us to capture and share knowledge and expertise across our firm in a way that email or traditional communication channels have not allowed. This in turn will help us identify synergies across our different practices and industries. Additionally, the ability to secure all data behind our firewall and configure our network according to our firm culture and security preferences will help the adoption of Pulse at Reed Smith.”

- Tom Baldwin, Chief Knowledge Officer
